

Digital Delivery

The success of digitization projects is based on the coherent and well-structured implementation measures and strategies of the newly developed concept.

“Common” challenges in the implementation of digitization initiatives

- _ Which environment and competencies are necessary for the implementation?
- _ How can strategic requirements be "translated" into operational doing and lead to project initiation?
- _ Which additional value is created by an agile working environment?
- _ How are the different development teams most optimally set up and orchestrated in terms of efficiency?

