

Group Controlling

Group management combines and adapts the effects of the legal structure with the requirements of the business model and strategy.

