Transparency is the foundation of everything; however, the decisive factor is what knowledge is gained and what measures are defined to improve the 'process performance' in a sustainable manner.